

Two Pictures.

From Gov. Buckner's Speech Before the Tariff Reform League at Chicago.

"Before I could wish to present to your attention two examples from history in striking contrast with each other, I should first of all refer to the tariff reform league at Chicago."

"The first of these examples is the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer."

"The second example is the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer."

"The third example is the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer."

"The fourth example is the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer."

"The fifth example is the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer."

"The sixth example is the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer."

"The seventh example is the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer."

"The eighth example is the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer."

"The ninth example is the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer."

"The tenth example is the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer."

"The eleventh example is the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer."

"The twelfth example is the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer."

"The thirteenth example is the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer."

"The fourteenth example is the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer."

"The fifteenth example is the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer."

"The sixteenth example is the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer."

"The seventeenth example is the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer."

"The eighteenth example is the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer."

"The nineteenth example is the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer."

"The twentieth example is the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer."

"The twenty-first example is the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer."

"The twenty-second example is the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer."

"The twenty-third example is the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer."

"The twenty-fourth example is the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer."

"The twenty-fifth example is the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer."

"The twenty-sixth example is the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer."

"The twenty-seventh example is the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer."

"The twenty-eighth example is the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer."

"The twenty-ninth example is the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer."

"The thirtieth example is the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer."

"The thirty-first example is the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer."

"The thirty-second example is the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer."

"The thirty-third example is the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer."

"The thirty-fourth example is the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer."

"The thirty-fifth example is the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer."

"The thirty-sixth example is the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer."

"The thirty-seventh example is the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer."

"The thirty-eighth example is the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer."

"The thirty-ninth example is the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer."

"The fortieth example is the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer."

"The forty-first example is the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer."

"The forty-second example is the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer."

"The forty-third example is the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer."

"The forty-fourth example is the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer."

The Vanishing Man.

Joseph Holmer, of Ohio County, Sold Tobacco to Democrats and Stopped Late Space.

Last Wednesday morning, a farmer from Ohio County, named Joseph Holmer, brought a load of tobacco to the city and sold it for $35. After it was delivered he put up his horse at Jack's stable, on Triplet street, and walked out in town, leaving word that he would return after dinner and so home. He did not do so, and nothing was heard of him for several days. It was thought of it as a joke, and Mr. Holmer returned Thursday, and Mr. Jackson spoke to the police of the case. He has no relation to the man who sold the tobacco, and the officers were of the opinion that he had gone to visit them. His hearing of the case of the stable was unaccountable, however, as his relative lives almost on his road home, and the contents of his wagon were visible. Others talk of his wandering away of his own will, though there was no ground for such an assumption, as he had failed to show up. His horse are still at Jack's stable, and nothing has been heard of him.

Holmer is about 20 years old, stout and well built, with light hair and light blue eyes. He is not a drinking character, and his disappearance has no connection with his disappearance. He is fairly well to do and there is no known domestic trouble to influence a flight.

Holmer is at home in good health, and has no relatives in the city. He is a friend, and has been returning on account of a delayed train.

CROWLEY NEWS.

Feb. 25, 1889. As this is the last chance to visit Democratic and Republican friends, and to see things that are very quiet in this town of today.

Mr. John Martin, of Martin's Ferry near this place, has a severe case of rheumatism, but is better at this writing.

Mr. Philip Hill, of Owensboro, who is now in town, and brought all the first and fourth of town and left for his home in the morning.

Next Monday Mr. Harrison will be inaugurated President with all the pomp and circumstance. The republican cabinet problem will then be solved in short order, and when the voting is done, the cabinet will be in order.

That great corporation of the West, the Chicago and North Western, will change its name to the Chicago and North Western, and will be known as the Chicago and North Western.

It is said to have been a custom since the days of Washington for the new President to dine at the inauguration ball. It is said to have been a custom since the days of Washington for the new President to dine at the inauguration ball.

Mr. Harrison is a man of great power on the continent of Europe, and his decision is due more to the spirit of protection than all other causes.

Let us continue in that course which, notwithstanding our rapid development, has been the result of the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer.

Let us continue in that course which, notwithstanding our rapid development, has been the result of the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer.

Let us continue in that course which, notwithstanding our rapid development, has been the result of the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer.

Let us continue in that course which, notwithstanding our rapid development, has been the result of the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer.

Let us continue in that course which, notwithstanding our rapid development, has been the result of the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer.

Let us continue in that course which, notwithstanding our rapid development, has been the result of the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer.

Let us continue in that course which, notwithstanding our rapid development, has been the result of the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer.

Let us continue in that course which, notwithstanding our rapid development, has been the result of the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer.

Let us continue in that course which, notwithstanding our rapid development, has been the result of the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer.

Let us continue in that course which, notwithstanding our rapid development, has been the result of the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer.

Let us continue in that course which, notwithstanding our rapid development, has been the result of the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer.

Let us continue in that course which, notwithstanding our rapid development, has been the result of the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view of the consumer, and not from the point of view of the producer.

Let us continue in that course which, notwithstanding our rapid development, has been the result of the tariff reform league at Chicago. It is a league of men who are in the habit of looking at the tariff from the point of view

S
Y
K
 try, I every a the
 .00
 81.50
 1.25
 1.25
 1.00
 75
 90
 95
889
 scene not arme as scene in present but at the Ky. that is call-in.
d
 it by the
 for me to be from
 from.
 VL.
 on.
 and.
r
se
**.
 eries
 Cost
 7 00
 5 00
 4 50
 5 00
 0 00
 2 00
 5 00
 ees!
 00
 Settle
R
 o 1-ly-rom
 the to

